About the Canadian Taxpayers Federation

The Canadian Taxpayers Federation (CTF) is a federally incorporated, non-profit and non-partisan, advocacy organization dedicated to lower taxes, less waste and accountable government. The CTF was founded in Saskatchewan in 1990 when the Association of Saskatchewan Taxpayers and the Resolution One Association of Alberta joined forces to create a national taxpayers organization. Today, the CTF has over 71,000 supporters from coast-to-coast.

The CTF maintains a federal office in Ottawa as well as provincial and regional offices in British Columbia, Alberta, the Prairies, Ontario and Atlantic Canada. Provincial and regional offices conduct research and advocacy activities specific to their provinces and regions in addition to acting as regional organizers of nationwide initiatives.

CTF offices field hundreds of media interviews each month, hold press conferences and issue regular news releases, commentaries and publications to advocate for the common interest of taxpayers. The CTF's flagship publication, The Taxpayer magazine, is published four times a year. Action Updates on current issues are sent to CTF supporters regularly. CTF offices also send out weekly Let's Talk Taxes commentaries to more than 800 media outlets and personalities nationwide.

CTF representatives speak at functions, make presentations to government, meet with politicians, and organize petition drives, events and campaigns to mobilize citizens to affect public policy change.

All CTF staff and board directors are prohibited from holding a membership in any political party. The CTF is independent of any institutional affiliations. Contributions to the CTF are not tax deductible.

The CTF's federal office is located at: 1915-130 Albert St.
Ottawa, Ontario K1P 5G4

Part 1-Fact Summary

- It would take a regular Canadian nearly 30 years to save the equivalent nest egg necessary to produce the eventual pension payouts a backbench MP is eligible for after just six years of service, and who makes the same pension contributions.¹
- While a MP has to contribute $10,900 annually for six years to receive a minimum backbencher pension, a regular Canadian would need to save $129,000 annually over six years for the same retirement payment.
- Taxpayers contributed $248,668 annually for every MP and Senator in 2009-10.
- The $5.80-to-$1.00 taxpayer-to-MP contribution ratio officially reported by the federal government massively understates the real contribution and payout ratios.
- This report details how for every $1.00 that MPs and Senators pay towards the so-called "pension fund," taxpayers contribute $23.30.
- Qualified MPs currently serving will be eligible to collect an average pension of $54,693 a year in 2015 in addition to a minimum $78,800 in one-time severance payments for those not qualified or old enough to collect.
- If each of them are re-elected in 2015, the current Parliament's MPs would be eligible to collect an average pension of $65,000 a year in 2019 in addition to a minimum $78,800 in one-time severance payments for those not qualified or old enough to collect.

The Big Totals: $262 million, $436 million and $227 billion

- If currently serving MPs were to leave Parliament in 2015, they would cost taxpayers $11.2 million a year in pension payments, adding up to $262 million by the time each of them reaches age 80. This is in addition to one-time severance payments of $15 million.
- If currently serving MPs were to leave Parliament in 2019, they would cost taxpayers $20 million a year in pension payments, adding up to $436 million by the time each of them reaches age 80. This is in addition to one-time severance payments of $9.8 million.

The Individual Winners

- Prime Minister Harper will be eligible to collect a pension of at least $223,500 a year by 2015, adding up to $5.5 million by the time he reaches age 80.² If the prime minister did or does "buy back in" for service between 1993 and 1997, his annual eligibility increases to $249,000 a year adding up to $6.2 million by age 80.
- If he remains Liberal leader, Bob Rae will be eligible to collect a pension of at least $71,400 a year by 2015, adding up to $1 million by the time he reaches age 80. If he resigns as interim Liberal leader by the end of 2012, he will be eligible for a pension of $66,900 a year by 2015, adding up to $984,000 by age 80.
- Pierre-Luc Dusseault, a New Democrat MP elected in the last election at age 19, will be eligible to collect an annual pension of $40,000 a year or $1.3 million by age 80 if re-elected just once and if he retires at age 27. Re-elected or not, he will be eligible to collect $78,800 in one-time severance.

The Six-Figure Club

• Twenty MPs will be eligible to collect more than $100,000 a year if they leave office in 2015 and 35 MPs will be eligible for that amount if they leave by 2019.

The Million-Dollar Club

- One-hundred twenty-four MPs will be eligible to collect more than $1 million by age 80 if they leave office in 2015 and 201 MPs will be eligible if they leave by 2019.
- Thirty-seven MPs will be eligible to collect more than $2 million by age 80 if they leave office in 2015 and 57 MPs will be eligible if they leave by 2019.
- Eight MPs will be eligible to collect more than $3 million by age 80 if they leave office in 2015 and 13 MPs will be eligible if they leave by 2019.

The Class of 2006

• Thirty-nine MPs will become eligible for the MP pension plan on January 23, 2012 after six years of service. The 'Class of 2006' will be eligible for a collective $1,927,000 in annual pensions in 2015, adding up to $29.1 million by age 80 in addition to $1.8 million in severance payments.

² Includes 'Prime Ministers Allowance'

Accounting Fiction

- The Parliamentary pension plan returned an annualized 10.4 per cent over the last ten years, compared to 6.5 per cent for the Canada Pension Plan, 4.6 per cent for the Quebec Pension Plan, 7.3 per cent for the Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan and 8.7 per cent for the S&P/TSX. The Parliamentary pension plan's annual return is established by the federal cabinet.
- During the recessionary year of 2008, the Parliamentary pension fund grew by an annualized 10.4 per cent, while the CPP lost 18.6 per cent, the QPP lost 25 per cent, the OTPP lost 18 per cent and the S&P/TSX lost 33 per cent.
- Most employer pension plans, even defined-benefit ones, have real accounts in which contributions are placed and investment earnings are added (ie. Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan). While unfunded liabilities can still result from under-contributions, poor investment returns or incorrect actuarial assumptions, the pension investments and earnings (or losses) are real.
- This is not the case for the pension plans of MPs and Senators. Incredibly, the massive 'interest' returns in the MP and Senator retirement "accounts" are arbitrarily determined by the federal cabinet, in regulations mandated by the MP pension legislation. Not only do MPs set their own salaries, they also determine the rate of their pension investment "returns."

Other Highlights

- In addition to the 113 defeated and retired MPs from the May 2, 2011 General Election, 97 former MPs and 20 former Senators were collecting an annual pension in excess of $70,000 annually as of April 2010.³
- The Parliamentary pension plan exceeds normal CRA regulations governing registered plans and is allowed only because a legal loophole designed for MPs and Senators technically breaks the pension into two separate accounts.

Part 2-Summary of Recommendations

- 1. Phase-out the current Parliamentary (MP and Senator) pension plan by:
 - Enrolling all current and future Parliamentarians into the government's new Pooled Registered Pension Plan (PRPP) on a voluntary basis, with;
 - Contribution rates equal to the Public Service, which are currently 6.2 per cent for earnings up to the maximum covered by the CPP/QPP, and 8.6 per cent for amounts above that.
 - Publishing the annual and lifetime pension eligibility of individual incumbent and past Parliamentarians online.
- 2. Introduce a "Senator Raymond Lavigne" amendment to the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowancing Act that:
 - Eliminates the taxpayer portion of pension and benefit eligibility for Parliamentarians convicted of crimes directly related to their office.
- 3. Commission a review of all taxpayer-funded pensions in the federal civil service, which the CD Howe Institute notes have a $227 billion unfunded liability.

Part 3-Introduction

Fairness dictates that a country's leaders should not afford themselves unreasonable privileges that the people they serve do not enjoy. While they should be properly compensated for their roles, politicians should not be a class apart from the taxpayers that fund the government they run.

This report does not examine basic MP salaries – ranging from $157,000 to $314,000 – but the pension plans they enjoy. These pension plans are beyond the reach of nearly all workers in the private sector and even many in the public sector.

Unsustainable public-sector defined-benefit pension plans are a major liability for balance sheets at all levels of government and threaten the long-term health of the Canadian economy. The C.D. Howe Institute calculates that the federal government's unfunded pension liability stands at $227 billion⁴. If MPs are to have the political capital and moral authority necessary to reform public sector pensions, they must first look to their own lavish plans.

There are glimmers of hope that MPs are beginning to take this issue seriously. Responding to CTF calls for reform at the House Standing Committee on Finance in October 2011, Conservative MP Shelly Glover stated:

You might be surprised to know that some of us actually do believe that we need to move towards adjustments in pensions and what not. And some of us actually, when we got elected, tried to waive the federal pension but we're not allowed to because of prior decisions by previous governments. So be careful about painting us all with the same brush because some of us have some pretty innovative ideas and I would hope you put some faith in us as we move forward.

The CTF would like to have faith that MPs will wake up to this issue and address it.

The government's Pooled Registered Pension Plan (PRPP) initiative provides an excellent vehicle for Canadians to save for their retirements, but this should not be left only to the private sector. MPs should show leadership in public sector pension reform by enrolling themselves into a PRPP. Doing so will provide MPs with the political capital necessary to move the entire federal public service away from defined-benefit pensions towards the fiscally responsible and sustainable PRPP.

Part 4-How MP Pensions are Calculated

Defeated or retired MPs are eligible to collect a pension at age 55 if they have served at least six years in the House of Commons. Similar rules exist for Senators' pensions, but they are beyond the focus of this report. Pensions become fully indexed at age 60 and once indexed, payments reflect the cumulative increase in CPI since the parliamentarian retired.

Annual Estimate

Annual pension payments are calculated by taking the average of an MP's best five years of basic salary, multiplied by the product of the number of total years of service and 3 per cent. This continues to a maximum of 75 per cent of a MP's salary.

For MPs who serve in additional roles (party leader, committee chair, etc.), extra accrual is attained from the ratio of the additional salary to the MP's basic salary, multiplied by 3 per cent.

For example: the current Speaker of the House of Commons earns an extra salary of $75,516 a year (not including car and rent allowances), which is equivalent to 48 per cent of his basic MP salary of $157,731. Since 3 per cent of 48 per cent is 1.4 per cent, the Speaker earns total of 4.4 per cent (3 per cent plus 1.4 per cent) for each year of service as MP and Speaker.

This extra portion of the pension plan is not subject to the basic plan's 75 per cent cap.

The prime minister is also entitled to a special allowance worth two-thirds of his or her extra salary upon reaching 65 years of age, which would currently work out to $104,665 annually.⁵

Lifetime Estimate and Indexation

MP pensions are indexed annually using the 12-month change in the Consumer Price Index (CPI). 6

The CTF estimates the total lifetime cost of MP pensions based on the annual amounts to be collected from the time eligibility until 80 years of age is reached, using the five-year average change in the CPI between September 2007 and September 2011, which is 2.04 per cent⁷.

 $^{^5}$ "Actuarial Report on the Pension Plan of Members of Parliament as at 31 March 2010." Office of the Chief Actuary. Page 20.

⁶ "Report on the Administration of the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowances Act for the Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 2010." Treasury Board Secretariat. 2010. Page 4.

Where MPs have refused to disclose their age, this report calculates their eligibility from age 55. Where MPs reach age 80 in 2015 or 2019, calculations are not made and are excluded from the overall figures used in the Fact Summary.

Interrupted Service

MPs who served non-consecutive terms in Parliament and who were not vested (after serving six years) can "buy back in" by contributing for past years served.

Several current Members fall into the category of potential "buy backs," however it is unknown if they have done so or not, or if they ever intend to do so after leaving political life. This includes

- Right Hon. Stephen Harper, Prime Minister
- Hon. Bob Rae, Interim Liberal Leader
- Hon. Ralph Goodale
- Hon. Rob Nicholson
- Hon. John Duncan
- Hon. Geoff Regan
- Hon. Bernard Valcourt
- Lee Richardson
- Peggy Nash

Legality of MP Pensions

The Canada Revenue Agency mandates that no registered pension can exceed an accrual of 2 per cent of salary for each year of work. MPs by contrast receive between 3 per cent and 6 per cent. This is allowed by a legal loophole that technically splits the pension plan into two smaller ones: the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowances (MPRA) Account and the Members of Parliament Retirement Compensation Arrangements (MPRCA) Account.

According to the 2010 Report on the Administration of the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowance Act,

The MPRA Account records the transactions related to the benefits payable under the plan when these benefits accord with income tax rules for registered pension plans. The MPRCA Account records the transactions related to the benefits payable under the plan when the benefits exceed the limits imposed by tax rules.⁸

 $^{^8}$ "Report on the Administration of the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowances Act for the Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 2010." Treasury Board Secretariat. 2010. Page 1.

To emphasize the government's own words, it uses a second account to top-up MP pensions "when the benefits exceed the limits imposed by tax rules."

Survivor Allowances

Spouses who survive deceased MPs and Senators are eligible to receive an allowance equal to three-fifths of the basic pension value. Children under the age of 18 or who are full-time students are eligible to collect one-tenth of the basic pension, or two-tenths if no spousal allowance is being collected.

Additionally, spouses surviving a former Prime Minster receive half of the eligible PM Allowance.⁹

Important Notes

Pension estimates provided by the CTF are, as stated, estimates, and not meant to be considered exact. As the pension eligibility of Parliamentarians is not publicly disclosed, the CTF is required to construct pension estimates based on the formulas provided to it by the Treasury Board Secretariat. The CTF attempts to use conservative estimates that are likely lower than actual eligibility.

 $^{^9}$ "Actuarial Report on the Pension Plan of Members of Parliament as at 31 March 2010." Office of the Chief Actuary. Page 21.

Part 5-What MP Pensions Cost

MP Contributions

MPs do contribute to their own pensions at a rate of 7 per cent of their sessional indemnities. In plain English, that means a backbencher with a salary of $157,000 per year would contribute $10,990 annually to the pension plan. Unless one decides to opt out, MPs with extra duties (such as ministers and party leaders) receive a larger pension and make correspondingly higher contributions. The Prime Minister however cannot opt-out of making additional contributions.

Collectively, MPs and Senators contributed $4.4 million to both pension accounts (the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowances (MPRA) Account and the Members of Parliament Retirement Compensation Arrangements (MPRCA) Account) in the fiscal year 2009-10.

Below are three examples of MP contributions contrasted with estimated lifetime pension payouts and the resulting taxpayer-to-MP ratio. It is noteworthy that the lifetime estimate and ratio increase significantly if MPs live longer than the 80 years used in these estimates.

Taxpayer-to-MP Contribution Examples: 2019 Election (retirement) Date

МР	Party	MP Contribution	Lifetime Pension Estimate	Ratio
Borg, Charmaine	NDP	$93,411.32	$1,268,402	$1 to $13.58
Moore, James (Hon.)	Conservative	$266,236.70	$3,795,385.84	$1 to $14.26
Dion, Stéphane (Hon.)	Liberal	$276,401.51	$2,805,138.76	$1 to $10.15

Taxpayer Contributions

Determining how much taxpayers contribute to Parliamentarians' pensions is not a straightforward task. The legislation and regulations that determine this go to extraordinary lengths to veil just how much taxpayers pay into the pension plan relative to politicians.

The Report on the Administration of the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowances Act (RAMPRAA), states that officially, the 'government' (taxpayers) contributed $25.5 million in 2009-10. That is a 'government' contribution ratio of $5.80 for every $1.00 politicians contribute. As lopsided as that figure is, the reality is actually much worse.

Disguised "Interest" and Accounting Fiction

If you contribute to your RRSP or into a TFSA, the money in that account and any earnings or interest is very real. Similarly, most employer pension plans, even defined-benefit ones, have real accounts in which contributions are placed and investment earnings are added (ie. Ontario Teachers' Pension Plan). While there may be, and often are, commitments to pay out more money than is in the pension fund (i.e., an unfunded liability) due to under-contributions, poor investment returns or incorrect actuarial assumptions, the pension accounts are, in most cases, real.

This is not the case for the pension plans of MPs and Senators.

Despite there being an accounting of the "funds" in the two retirement accounts for MPs and Senators, there are no actual set-aside funds. They are merely notional accounts, akin to a bookkeeping note.

Despite the absence of actual funds and no actual investment of those dollars to generate a return that takes place in an RRSP for example, the 'fund' still manages to 'earn' interest each year. These 'interest earnings' are in fact a massive top-up from taxpayers.

Incredibly, the massive 'interest' returns in the MP and Senator retirement accounts are arbitrarily determined by the federal cabinet, in regulations mandated by the MP pension legislation. Not only do MPs set their own salaries, they also determine the rate of their pension investment "returns."

According to the Public Accounts of Canada:

Federally appointed judges and Members of Parliament pension plans, are recorded in pension accounts within the accounts of Canada pursuant to pension legislation, but are not invested. 10

That return is not determined by the performance of the market, but by government legislation and regulation. According to Section 64(1)(a) of the Members of Parliament Retiring Allowances Act,

The Governor in Council shall make regulations prescribing...the rates of interest, the manner of calculating interest and the times at which interest shall be credited to the Retiring Allowances Account and the Compensation Arrangements Account. 11

The regulation described in the Act dictates that,

 $^{^{10}}$ "Public Accounts of Canada 2011. Volume I. Summary Report and Fiscal Statements." Receiver General for Canada. November 3, 2011. Section 2.17.

¹¹ "Members of Parliament Retiring Allowances Act (R.S.C., 1985, c. M-5)." Department of Justice Canada. Section 64(1)(a).

Interest shall be credited to the Account in respect of each quarter in each fiscal year, on the last day of June, September, December and March, calculated at the rate of 2.5 per cent of the balance to the credit of the Account on the last day of the preceding quarter. 12

While the Parliamentary pension plan grew by an annualized 10.4 per cent over the last 10 years, the Canada Pension Plan (CPP) grew by 6.5 per cent, Quebec Pension Plan (QPP) by 4.6 per cent, Ontario Teachers Pension Plan (OTPP) by 7.3 per cent and the S&P/TSX by 8.7 per cent.

During the recessionary year of 2008, the Parliamentary pension plan grew by an annualized 10.4 per cent, while the CPP lost 18.6 per cent, the QPP lost 25 per cent, the OTPP lost 18 per cent and the S&P/TSX lost 33 per cent.

While the Parliamentary pension funds increased by more than 10 per cent during the recent recession, private pension funds lost 21 per cent of their value.¹³

The in his report, Jean-Claude Menard, Chief Actuary of the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions, stated that,

In previous valuations, the projected annual yields on the combined book value of the Superannuation Accounts were used as the valuation interest rate (after the scheduled review date of the next actuarial valuation report) as it was anticipated that the 2.5 % per quarter would be changed. Following discussions with the interested parties, there is continued agreement that using a quarterly valuation interest rate of 2.5% is not appropriate. Our best estimate is that the interest rate that would be credited in the future may be based on the Government's long term borrowing cost. 14

Annual Pension Contributions

With total taxpayer contributions equaling $102.7 million dollars in 2009-10, and a total of 413 MPs and Senators, taxpayers contributed $248,668 for every parliamentarian.

Besides the sheer size of the contribution, this is noteworthy because the taxpayers' contribution to MP and Senator pensions is $90,938 higher than a backbench MP's basic salary of $157,731.

Graph 1: Cumulative Ten Year Return on Pension Plans & Investments 15

This fictional interest increased the taxpayer contributions to the MP and Senators pension accounts by $77.2 million in 2009-10.

Official government contributions and 'interest' taken together bring the total cost to taxpayers to $102.7 million for 2009-10, or $23.30 for every $1.00 that politicians contribute.

Compared with Canadians – The Retirement Comfort Index¹⁶

Using the same 6.5 per cent rate of return that the CPP has earned, it would take a regular Canadian:

- 29.5 years to save for the equivalent of a minimum backbencher pension, making the same contributions.¹⁷
- 50.5 years to save for the equivalent of a full backbencher pension, making the same contributions. 18

¹⁷ Contribution rate of $10,990/year.

¹⁸ Contribution rate of $10,990/year.

• 67.5 years to save for the equivalent of a full backbencher and ministerial pension, making the same contributions.¹⁹

Graph 2: Retirement Comfort Index – Years of contributions

Using the same 6.5 per cent rate of return that the CPP has earned, a regular Canadian would have to invest:

- $129,000 per year for 6 years ($774,000) for the equivalent of a minimum backbencher pension while that MP would have to contribute $10,900 a year for the same period of time ($65,400).
- $65,000 per year for 25 years ($1,625,000) for the equivalent of a full backbencher pension while that MP would have to contribute $10,900 a year for the same period of time ($272,500).
- $95,500 per year for 25 years ($2,387,500) for the equivalent of a full backbencher and accompanying ministerial pension while that MP would have to contribute $15,129 a year for the same period of time ($378,225).

¹⁹ Contribution rate of $15,129/year

Graph 3: Retirement Comfort Index – Dollars contributed

Payouts versus Contributions

The parliamentary pension accounts are likely overfunded due to the 10.4 per cent "interest" awarded to it, relative to the funds actually needed. Therefore, the amount actually paid out as a proportion of what MPs contribute annually is less than the $23.30 taxpayer-to-MP ratio noted above.

In 2009-10, MPs and Senators contributed $4.4 million to both pension accounts, while total expenditures of both accounts amounted to $46.8 million. Therefore, sitting MPs and Senators contributed $1.00 in 2010 for every $10.64 that was paid out to their presently retired colleagues.

To summarize, taxpayers contribute $23.30 for every $1.00 that parliamentarians do, but parliamentarians currently receive $10.64 for every $1.00 that they contribute.

Comment [M1]: I would recreate this chart so it is clear. Just punch the numbers into Excel and re-paste here. This is too blurry.

Comment [S2]: If these are dollar amounts, we need to put in the $ sign.
